3. PGBC Website Revamp

In this term, the website working group led by Mr Paul CHAN had selected a service provider for the PGBC website revamp. The revamp project included purchasing of a new template and incorporation of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) Eco-village Transitional Housing Architectural Design Idea Competition page into the PGBC website. The new design of the PGBC website is expected to be launched in January 2021.

4. Promotion of Quality and Sustainable Built Environment

4.1 Green Building Award (GBA)

Green Building Award 2019 was co-organised by the HKGBC together with PGBC. A total amount of $306,600 was received from HKGBC as a net surplus on a 50/50 basis upon completion of the event. One third of this amount, i.e. HK$100,000 would be spent on the SDG Eco-village Transitional Housing Architectural Design Idea Competition.

4.2 Eco Expo Asia 2020

Ir Allan Chan represented the PGBC to join the Task Force of Eco Expo Asia 2020 and attended the Task Force meetings and the Opening Session of Eco Asia Conference 2020 which was a highlighted event of the Expo.

4.3 Best Landscape Award for Private Property Development 2021

The Best Landscape Award for Private Property Development is held biennially, which aims to sustain the betterment of the living environment in private property and to promote excellence in greening by giving recognition to those with outstanding landscape design and maintenance. The Award originally scheduled to be held in 2020 has been cancelled due to the outbreak of COVID-19 pandemic. The Leisure and Cultural Services Department decided to reactivate the Award in 2021 instead of 2022 and the event will be restored to biennial basis thereafter. The PGBC agreed to co-organise the event and nominated Mr Paul CHAN to join the Organising Committee of the Award.

4.4 Research Project

A PGBC supported project “Resilient City – Landscape Planning towards Climate Adaptation” led by Association of Landscape Consultant was completed in November 2020. A publication on this topic would be launched soon.

5. Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Event

PGBC organised talk, workshop and visits for continuing professional development of our members. The following activity was held in 2020:

Event Date	Event Title	Organisers
27 April 2020	CPD seminar: Modular Integrated Construction - Consultant Perspective (zoom) 	HKIA + PGBC

7. The Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) Eco Village Transitional Housing Architectural Design Idea Competition

The SDG Eco Village (SDGEV) Transitional Housing Architectural Design Idea Competition is organized by the Professional Green Building Council (PGBC). The Co-organizers are The Hong Kong Institute of Architects (HKIA) and Hong Kong Construction Association (HKCA). The Competition is also supported by the Hong Kong Council of Social Service (HKCSS), Hong Kong Lutheran Social Service (HKLSS), the Transport and Housing Bureau and the Environment Bureau of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region.

The Competition invites members of the five founding professional institutes of PGBC to contribute innovative and creative proposals for the design of the future proposed SDG Eco Village. The Competition aims to recognise good architectural design that can contribute to the implementation of the concepts of the United Nations SDG. Renowned jury members are invited for the Competition, with jury's adjudication scheduled for April/May 2021. The award-winning and shortlisted projects will be showcased to the public in July 2021.

To facilitate Competition participants to have better understanding of United Nations SDG and to exchange ideas, a series of SDG Eco Village webinars are to be arranged on the topics of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, Modular Integrated Construction, Healthy Living and Community Farming in January 2021.

Last but not least, I would like to extend my deep gratitude to all Council Members who have contributed their time and efforts for the betterment of PGBC. I believe that PGBC will continue to flourish in the coming years with your dedication and support.
